Background: Architect Certificate of Registration. an architect, unless the person is registered or authorized to practice in the state of Washington. A certificate of registration must be granted by the Department of Licensing (DOL) to all qualified applicants who are certified by the State Board for Architects (Board) as having passed the required examination and as having given satisfactory proof of completion of the required experience. The application and examination fees are determined by DOL.

Architect means an individual who is registered under this chapter to practice architecture. The practice of architecture means the rendering of any service or related work requiring architectural education, training, and experience, in connection with the art and science of building design for construction of any structure or grouping of structures and the use of space within and surrounding the structures or the design for construction of alterations or additions to the structures, including, but not specifically limited to, predesign services, schematic design, design development, preparation of construction contract documents, and administration of the construction contract.

Applicants. An applicant for registration as an architect must be of a good moral character, at least eighteen years of age, and have:

- an accredited architectural degree and complete a structured training program approved by the Board; or
- a high school diploma or equivalent and at least eight years of practical architectural work experience, including the completion of a structured training program under the direct supervision of an architect as determined by the Board. At least three of the years of required experience outside of the structured training program must be under the direct supervision of an architect, which may include designing buildings as a principal activity and postsecondary education as determined by the Board.

The Board may approve up to four years of practical architectural work experience for postsecondary education courses in architecture, architectural technology, or a related field, as determined by the Board, including courses completed in a community or technical college if the courses are equivalent to courses in an accredited architectural degree program.

Examinations. Applications for examination must be filed as the Board prescribes by rule. The examination for an architect's certificate of registration must be held at least annually. The Board determines the time and place of the exam, and the content, scope, and grading process of the exam. The Board may adopt an appropriate national examination and grading procedure.

Applicants who fail to pass any section of the examination must be permitted to retake the parts failed as prescribed by the Board. Applicants have five years from the date of the first passed examination section to pass all remaining sections. If the entire examination is not successfully completed within five years, any sections that were passed more than five years prior must be retaken. If a candidate fails to pass all remaining sections within the initial five-year period, the candidate is given a new five-year period from the date of the second oldest passed section. All sections of the examination must be passed within a single five-year period for the applicant to be deemed to have passed the complete examination.

Applicants for registration may begin taking the examination upon enrollment in a structured training program as approved by the Board.

Summary of Bill: The provisions regarding applicants passing all sections of the exam within five years are removed. Applicants must pass all sections of the exam as prescribed by the Board.
