legally deliver, distribute, and sell, in a single transaction on the premises, any combination of the following amounts of cannabis products to a person 21 years of age or older:

- 1 ounce of usable cannabis;
- 16 ounces of cannabis-infused product in solid form;
- 72 ounces of cannabis-infused product in liquid form; and
- 7 grams of cannabis concentrate.

LCB rules specify additional product serving limits allowed in individual units and packages. These amounts differ for retailers with a medical cannabis endorsement selling cannabis or cannabis products to a qualifying patient or designated provider entered into the medical cannabis authorization database.

Cannabis Possession—Transfer Limits. A person 21 years of age or older may possess the amounts above and may transfer up to half of those amounts to another person or persons 21 years of age or older, during a single 24-hour period, if transferred for non-commercial purposes and without financial consideration. The transfer must occur outside of the view of general public and in a non-public place; or the cannabis or cannabis product must be in the original packaging purchased from the retailer. These amounts differ for qualifying patients and designated providers entered into the medical cannabis authorization database.

Summary of Bill: Retail Cannabis Transaction Limits. Retailers may sell more than 72 ounces of cannabis-infused product in liquid form if the product is packaged in individual units containing no more than four milligrams of THC per unit. A new limit of 200 milligrams of THC within a cannabis-infused product in liquid form is established if the product is packaged in individual units containing no more than four milligrams of THC per unit.

Cannabis Possession—Transfer Limits. A person 21 years of age or older may legally possess the amounts above and may transfer half of such amounts to another person or persons 21 years of age or older if the transfer complies with other applicable requirements.
