Background: The state civil service law governs the appointment, promotion, transfer, layoff, removal, discipline, and other personnel matters of most state agency employees. State employees exempt from civil service include, elected officials; members and executive staff of boards, commissions and councils; staff of the legislative and judicial branches; assistant attorneys general; agency directors and assistant directors; various job classes in institutions of higher education; officers of the Washington State Patrol; certain executive assistant and confidential secretaries; inmates; students; certain employee at the Department of Commerce administering specified programs; and certain employees at the Consolidated Technology Services Agency.

Generally, the salary and fringe benefits of exempted employees is determined by the Office of Financial Management (OFM) or must meet the same provisions for classified salary increases resulting from adjustments to the classification plan. The state classification plan is designed to promote effective use of the state's workforce and improve the effectiveness and efficiency of the delivery of services.

The Washington State Law Enforcement Officers' and Fire Fighters' Plan 2 Retirement (LEOFF 2) Board was created by Initiative 790, and was established as a state agency in July 2003. The 11 member board is comprised of three firefighters, three police officers, three employer representatives and two legislators. One LEOFF 2 Board member must be a retired participant of LEOFF Plan 2. Board members are appointed by the Governor.

The LEOFF 2 Board is authorized to hire an executive director and to set the executive director's salary in consultation with OFM. Staff of the Board are covered by the state civil service law.

Summary of First Substitute Bill: The requirement for the LEOFF 2 Board to consult with OFM when setting the salary of the executive director is removed. Staff of the LEOFF 2 Board are exempted from the state civil service law and the authority to establish staff salaries is moved to the LEOFF 2 Board.
